

BIOGRAPHY

David R.
Bourcier

Controller

David Bourcier is the controller for United Launch Alliance (ULA). In this role, Bourcier has responsibility for Accounting and Tax, Overhead Rates and Budgets, Government Compliance, Accounts Payable and Payroll, Facilities and Property Management.

Prior to joining ULA, Bourcier served as the assistant controller for Lockheed Martin Space Systems Company where he led enterprise restructuring projects, implemented overhead cost reduction initiatives and served as the ULA consent order liaison.

He began his career with Martin Marietta in 1984 and held various positions of increasing responsibility within program and central finance, including leadership positions as director of Accounting, director of Government Compliance and director of Financial Planning and Analysis.

David holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Principia College and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Colorado.

David is married with two grown children and enjoys golfing and skiing.

